

Who's who

by Paul Willis in the October 31, 2006 issue

But Martha was distracted with much serving (Luke 10:40)

And why do we assume that Martha is the elder of the two?

Maybe she is the younger one, always stuck with Mary's chores while Mary practices meditation, her yoga, her imaging, maybe arranges crystals on the living-room floor.

Martha has been abandoned in the kitchen for years, lifting the stone pitchers of water from off the porch with both hands day after day, her young back giving way under the strain, pouring out her youth to provide her older sister and this latest rabbi of hers another of her good portions.