Wednesday digest

February 1, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Jane Donovan on veterans turning to clergy for counseling: "Mike is a veteran who attended college on the new GI Bill. When he walked into my office, I knew something was wrong." (subscription required)
- Bill McKibben summarizes the gospel: "Love your neighbor as yourself."
- Janet Edwards on who's in the best position to build bridges
- Lois Huey-Heck on art by Wayne Adams (subscription required)

In the news:

- Mormons confront 'epidemic' on online misinformation
- Middle East Christians keep wary eye on Arab Spring
- Former aide says Southern Baptists had clout in Bush White House
- Christians join fight against cockfighting
- Malawi bishops endorse circumcision for HIV/AIDS prevention