Wednesday digest

March 7, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Kay Lynn Northcutt on illness and solitude: "Chronic illness is like Walden: life is pared down to essentials. But unlike Thoreau, I can't walk away." (subscription required)
- Bob Cornwall reviews Tom Long
- Steve Taylor on churches that meet monthly instead of weekly
- Steve Thorngate on the new gender-byline-gap numbers

In the news:

- Don't lose sight of Middle East peace, U.S. religious leaders say
- Jews worry about Purim's endorsement of alcohol
- White House insists contraception talks are on track