

Friday digest

May 25, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Ben Dueholm on Memorial Day: "There's a danger in making veterans into secular saints. The saints don't need us to give their deaths meaning; they died fully rewarded."
- Terra Brockman on farming and bees: "The post office called recently about a box of honeybees. The assault of insecticides means my sister can no longer overwinter her hives." (subscription required)
- Adam Copeland on a last-minute speaking opportunity
- Cindy Crosby reviews Richard Louv (subscription required)

In the news:

- Director of Vatican Bank resigns under pressure
- Analysis: Catholic bishops divided in legal battle against Obama birth control mandate
- Taize movement brings throwback appeal to U.S.