

Monday digest

October 8, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Janet Potter's fiction chronicle
- Timothy Renick reviews Daniel Philpott (subscription required)
- Kathleen Norris's reading habits (subscription required)
- Kathy Wolf Reed blogs the lectionary
- David Warkentin on facing uncertainty

In the news:

- Campaigns' faith outreach centers on economy
- Pastors to challenge IRS over political endorsements, and they're likely to get away with it
- Canada cuts all non-Christian prison chaplains
- Episcopal bishop says he was denied entrance to Catholic archbishop's installation Mass
- Tunisians worry about loss of freedoms gained under the Arab Spring