

Friday digest

January 4, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Mark Heim on Brian McLaren: "John Lennon's peace anthem 'Imagine' can also be seen as an antidiversity hymn. McLaren imagines something different." (subscription required)
- Rodney Clapp on technology and prayer (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on the fiscal-cliff deal
- Carol Howard Merritt on empowered women on the right
- "Uncle Mose's dream," a poem about Emmett Till by Philip Kolin
- Lou Carlozo briefly reviews Jimmy LaFave

In the news:

- Chicago cardinal leads new fight against gay marriage