New today from the Century:

- Jamie Smith on social media as a disordered liturgy: "If Christian liturgy works on the imagination, so do disordered secular liturgies. Social media—despite its good uses—might be one example." (subscription required)
- Shawnthea Monroe on wearing a clerical collar for Lent
- Ryan Dueck on when God scares his 11-year-old
- "Knitting in the wild," a poem by Luci Shaw
