

On the road

By Steve Thorngate

April 4, 2013

I'm away this week at the joint gathering of the Associated Church Press and the Religious Communicators Council. Lots of useful lectures and workshops, lots of colleagues to catch up with; not a lot of time to blog. So my lack of posting is likely to continue through the week. (Also, the more or less daily Century "digest" posts are trending toward "less" while I'm away.)

About to go hear a plenary by Century contributor Matthew Myer Boulton. Later, Sojourners' Cindy Martens and I will present the ACP's "Best of the Christian Press" awards. Good times.