Tuesday digest

April 9, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- The Associated Church Press's 2012 awards include eight for the Century
- Amy Frykholm interviews translator Orly Noy: "I am more hopeful about the Iranian future than the Israeli one. The Iranians are at least willing to admit there is a problem." (subscription required)
- Robert Rimbo's lectionary column for Sunday, April 21 (subscription required)
- New Century intern Tyler Day on white mainliners and immigration reform

In the news:

• N.C. minorities remain worried after religion bill is pulled