Friday digest

May 17, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Jen Bradbury on youth ministy and sticky faith: "We youth ministers have often tried to make our ministries cool enough to compete. But every teen knows that the church is not cool."
- Jeffrey Johnson reviews Kent Haruf (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on (re)writing songs for Pentecost
- $\circ\,$ Diane Roth on faith formation and $\underline{dying}\,$

In the news:

- Anti-Shariah movement changes tactics and gains success
- Catholics split on proposed gay Boy Scouts change