

A free online video conversation on Race and the Church

Over the summer I participated in a panel hosted by MennoNerds.com on Race and the Church. The video has been available on youtube for a while, but I figured I would repost it here for those that might be interested in the far ranging conversation that we had. Along with engaging one another as a diverse panel, we were also able to respond to a live audience that sent questions to our host as it was being recorded. Was good to participate in such a rich online forum. Let me know what you think. Was it helpful? What were some of the highlights? Anything you heard that you didn't appreciate? Any added wisdom?
