

Lutherans, please take my Lutheran survey

By Steve Thorngate

November 8, 2014

One reason I haven't posted in a while is that my role as the Century's webmaster has sort of taken over my job in recent weeks, as we've made what ended up being a pretty bumpy server move.

Another reason is that my train commute—aka "when editors actually write something"—has lately been dominated by the MA thesis I'm working on for my seminary degree. It's about Evangelical Lutheran Worship, the 2006 worship book commended by the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America and the Evangelical Lutheran Church in Canada. One of my starting points is gathering a few details and comments on how some Lutherans are using ELW, so I'm doing this \(unscientific\) online survey to help inform this.

If you're involved in Lutheran worship leadership in some way, please take my survey if you haven't already. Takes about 15 minutes.