

Episode 10: Theologian and podcaster Tripp Fuller, author of Divine Self-Investment

A conversation with theologian and podcaster Tripp Fuller about the Homebrewed Christianity podcast, open and relational theology, han and suffering, and more

September 9, 2021

Welcome to Madang.

Madang is the outdoor living room of the world. Here, we invite you to sit and tune into unreserved, remarkable conversations with renowned authors, leaders, public figures, and scholars on religion, culture, and everything in between.

Here in the tenth episode of Madang, I talk with theologian and podcaster Tripp Fuller. Fuller is a Postdoctoral Research Fellow in Theology and Science at the University of Edinburgh. He received his Ph.D. in philosophy, religion, and theology at Claremont Graduate University. Fuller is the host and founder the Homebrewed Christianity podcast, which is a top theology podcast. He is the author of Jesus: Lord, Liar, Lunatic... or Awesome? and Divine Self-Investment: An Open and Relational Constructive Christology. He also produced the film The Road to Edmond.

In this conversation, we talk about the Homebrewed Christianity podcast, open and relational theology, why “Christology is not a spectator doctrine,” evil, how “God refuses to be God without us,” han and suffering, science and religion, and more.