Pietà

by Sarah Rossiter in the April 2024 issue Published on March 26, 2024

He was the last to enter the small plane, a tall man, ducking through the narrow door, carrying a slight form hidden beneath a cotton sheet, motionless during the hour's flight, not dead, I hoped, not yet, but sleeping, silent, the man too, silent, head bent, listening, as if waiting for someone to tell him why, and why, I wonder, these years later, I, too still hold that cradled child?