

Link digest

By Steve Thorngate

June 17, 2011

Subscribe to the Century editors' link blogging by feed.

On adoption, Christians should put up or shut up.

Sad story from Alabama.

Why TOMS shoes do more for first-world guilt than for third-world feet.

Smart commentary on the fake Syrian blogger.

Tom Toles on the budget battle.

Pawlenty's high-end tax cuts dwarf even those of President Bush.

Fortunately for both parties, poor people wield little political power.

Education is not a panacea.

Bank of America pays debt instead of losing furniture.

Biofuels are to blame for food prices. Yet the secretary of agriculture still defends ethanol subsidies.

Conflicts of interest on the House agricultural committee. One more reason it's hard to reform the food system.

The cable networks don't want to hear from Leader Pelosi unless it's about Rep. Weiner.

Why is profitability the standard for Amtrak? It isn't for federal highways.

Hello, may I interest you in a dissenting view of *The Book of Mormon*?