"The church has not posed any theory in that regard."

By Steve Thorngate November 8, 2011

The Catholic bishops' media-relations director:

While the general population has debated whether it's nurture or nature that leads to a homosexual inclination, the church has not posed any theory in that regard.

Mark Silk:

And that's the rock on which the Catholic church has built the natural law edifice of its opposition to [same-sex marriage].