Thursday digest

December 8, 2011

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Craig Barnes on his personal Bible: "The older and more tattered my Bible becomes, the more it becomes part of me." (subscription required)
- Lauren Winner reviews Brian McLaren: "The architecture of Naked Spirituality is a bit complicated. But if you can bear with it, you'll find countless insights." (subscription required)
- Mary Karr's seven-word gospel: "We are The Church of Infinite Chances"
- Steve Thorngate on Obama's Teddy Roosevelt speech: "It's the most fired up and the readiest to go that we've seen Obama in a good long while."

In the news:

- National Council of Churches honors five congregations as "interfaith engaged" leaders
- Religious freedom panel prepares to close
- Churches in Africa urged to prioritize disability rig
- Advent a make-or-break chance for churches, visitors
- Young hip Jews leading a Hanukkah music makeover