

Wednesday digest

January 25, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- John Buchanan on retiring from ministry: "After 48 years as a minister, I will retire at the end of January. I have tried not to become caught in the 'oh-my-gosh-it's-the-last-time-I-will-do-this' syndrome, and I succeeded until Epiphany Sunday."
- Craig Barnes summarizes the gospel in just four words: "We live by grace"
- Carol Howard Merritt asks whether there really is wisdom in fearing God
- Steve Vineberg reviews The Iron Lady (subscription required)

In the news:

- Gay bishop documentary takes center stage at Sundance
- 'A miniature Christian bookstore' in the palm of your hand
- Workers at religious institutions fear future of pensions