

Tuesday digest

February 28, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Rodney Clapp praises snow: "Snow can be tiresome, even deadly, but it can also be a sign of holiness and of hope."
- Casey Thompson's lectionary column for Sunday, March 11 (subscription required)
- Celebrity pastors and the mainline
- All the things mainliners allegedly are

In the news:

- Head of Islamic organization deplores killings in Afghanistan
- Experts challenge Santorum's remarks linking college to faith loss
- Rights advocates hail decision on former Salvadoran official
- Are the mainline Protestant splinter churches a new Reformation or old news?
- Brazilian bishop and wife murdered