

Tuesday digest

April 10, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Walter Brueggemann reviews Frederick Gaiser: "Fred Gaiser offers a sober, accessible review of the biblical materials pertinent to our thinking about healing." (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on the Ryan budget: "Yes, yes, anti-poverty work should offer a hand up, not just a handout. But how ideologically myopic do you have to be to collapse this distinction into the debate over the role of government?"
- Michael Jenkins's lectionary column for Sunday, April 22 (subscription required)
- More from Vashti McKenzie, a bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal church

In the news:

- Rutgers University newspaper under fire for Hitler spoof
- Questions remain after Christian painter Thomas Kinkade dies
- Will religious conservatives rally to Mitt Romney?
- Q conference seeks to present different face of evangelical activism