

Tuesday digest

July 3, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Richard Kauffman on the fourth of July and selective memory
- Matt Fitzgerald on the church's way with death: "Regular churchgoing does not make you a friend of death. But if you sit in the pews long enough, you cannot help getting acquainted." (subscription required)
- James Sledge on leaving a manse
- Jennifer Moland-Kovash's lectionary column for Sunday, July 15 (subscription required)

In the news:

- Mormons' love-hate relationship with America