

Wednesday digest

August 8, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Kathleen Flake on the four books of Mormonism: "The LDS canon's four books carry equal weight of authority. All are read as historical witnesses to God's promise of salvation."
- Edward Blum reviews Paul Gutjahr: "It has become fashionable to narrate the lives of books. Paul Gutjahr offers a brief and readable account of the Book of Mormon's history." (subscription required)
- More from Carol Howard Merritt and Montreat
- Steve Thorngate on why Republican leaders should go beyond condemning violence against religious minorities