

Wednesday digest

August 22, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Walter Brueggemann reviews Susan Jacoby, "an important truth teller. Her book's core idea is that old age is real, inescapable and often dreadful—despite society's illusions."
- Steve Thorngate on the conversation Rep. Akin provoked
- Debra Bendis on Atina Diffley's organic-farming memoir
- Lil Copan on artwork by Sheila Mahoney Keefe (subscription required)

In the news:

- Old-fashioned nuns say the past is key to the future