

Wednesday digest

October 3, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Deborah Smith Douglas on reading fiction as a Christian practice: "Reading fiction has done more to baptize my imagination, inform my faith and strengthen my courage than any prayer technique has."
- Shirley Showalter reviews Rhoda Janzen's book Does This Church Make Me Look Fat? (subscription required)
- Scott Cairns's reading habits (subscription required)
- James McGrath on Focus on the Family's false prophets
- Steve Thorngate on Romney's solid idea on tax deductions

In the news:

- Poll: Most Americans don't think Scientology is a religion
- ENInews suspends service, seeks further funding