Wednesday digest

October 10, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Daniel Schultz (aka pastordan) on Pulpit Freedom Sunday
- Rodney Clapp on Halloween
- Edward Blum reviews John Turner's Brigham Young biography (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on the question of evangelicals voting for a Mormon
- "In the vernacular gallery," a poem by David Wright

In the news:

- Losing our religion: One in five Americans are now 'nones'
- Meet John Q. Nones: A profile of the fast-growing religiously unaffiliated