

Monday digest

November 12, 2012

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- The editors on the fiscal cliff: "While past attempts at big deals have failed, this time Obama has serious leverage: House Republicans loathe the fiscal cliff's policies."
- Randall Balmer reviews Stephen Prothero (subscription required)
- Stephen Fowl blogs the lectionary
- Margaret Marcuson on how to deal with difficult parishioners

In the news:

- American Muslims celebrate defeat of congressional critics
- New Archbishop of Canterbury Justin Welby inherits a divided Anglican Communion
- Vatican says it hasn't lost the gay marriage fight
- Church leaders say returning vets need time, attention