

Heading out east

By Steve Thorngate

December 1, 2012

My wife and I are about to leave for two weeks on the east coast, where we'll see old friends, meet new babies, work a little (her mostly) and hopefully relax a lot. I've prescheduled a few posts for while we're gone, but my blog will be relatively quiet. (I'm afraid the internets will have to live without one more voice chiming in on the fiscal negotiations for a while. I'm guessing they'll manage.)

Posting elsewhere on the Century site will go on as usual, thanks (again) to the magic of prescheduled posting.