Monday digest

April 22, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Valerie Weaver-Zercher on Amish-themed popular fiction: "Might Christian nostalgia—wrapped in a cape dress and sealed with a kiss—have an interest in the future as well as the past?" (subscription required)
- Timothy Renick reviews Gilbert Meilaender (subscription required)
- Randall Balmer reviews Lawrence Wright (subscription required)
- Amy Plantinga Pauw's annotated list of new books in theology
- Gail Irwin on the church as first responders of last resort
- Robert Rimbo blogs the lectionary