

Tuesday digest

April 23, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Richard Kauffman on reading the Bible on his iPad: "I switched to a digital Bible for ease and versatility. But I gave something up: a sense of the sweeping history of God's engagement with God's people." (subscription required)
- Stanley Hauerwas reviews David Gushee (subscription required)
- Greg Carey reviews Candida Moss (subscription required)
- Barbara Rossing's lectionary column for the Ascension (subscription required)
- Carol Howard Merritt on transforming the culture of violence
- Steve Thorngate on how Boston eclipsed Texas

In the news:

- Colm Toibin's "Testament of Mary" brings Jesus' mother down to earth
- Catholic bishops: Don't let Boston attacks derail immigration reform
- Boy Scouts proposal displeases religious leaders on both sides
- U.S. Christians rally around home-schooling family facing deportation
- Boston mosque says bombing suspect had outbursts but wasn't violent