Friday digest

April 26, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Katherine Willis Pershey reviews books by Glennon Melton and Rachel Srubas (subscription required)
- John Turner reviews Catherine Brekus (subscription required)
- Century intern Tyler Day on archiving old Martin Marty columns
- Steve Thorngate highlights Jonathan Cohn's work on home-based child care
- Richard Kauffman on art by Hanna Varghese (subscription required)

In the news:

- Catholics try their hand at old-fashioned evangelism
- Jerusalem court upholds women's prayer rights at Western Wall