

Wednesday digest

July 24, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Daniel Bell on just war and counterinsurgency: "Drones expose the deficiencies of seeing war as a matter of annihilation. The rules of just war are more crucial than ever. " (subscription required)
- Ed Blum on racial violence and presidential rhetoric
- Steve Thorngate on talking about Trayvon at church
- A brief review of Mark Burrows's translation of a lesser-known book by Rilke

In the news:

- Humanists want a military chaplain to call their own
- Reformist priest sees potential ally in Pope Francis