

Tuesday digest

August 6, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today (and yesterday) from the Century:

- Lee Hull Moses on continuing to talk about gays and lesbians in the church : "I sometimes envy my colleagues whose denominations have already fought this issue out, voted and moved on. We Disciples don't work that way." (subscription required)
- John Turner reviews Matthew Hedstrom: "What we read matters. But what should we read? Hedstrom describes Protestant angst amid the information overload of the early 20th century." (subscription required)
- Martha-Lynn Corner on praying the Daily Office
- David Heim on hope for the Jordan River
- Robert Saler blogs the lectionary
- Saler's magazine lectionary column for Sunday, August 18 (subscription required)
- Carol Howard Merritt on a new series of God Complex study guides
- Heidi Hornik and Mikeal Parsons on art by Domenico Fetti (subscription required)