

Wednesday digest

August 14, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- C. E. Morgan on Flannery O'Connor: "O'Connor's artistic signature involved a severity of image, dark-as-night humor, and a relentless preoccupation with sacramental violence." (subscription required)
- Carol Howard Merritt on Generation X
- Steve Thorngate on corporate and anti-poverty interests in concert

In the news:

- D.C. church recalls real butler as quiet man of steady faith
- ACLU says magistrate can't order 'Messiah' name change
- Christian ethicist Jean Bethke Elshain dies at 72
- Catholic gift stores see a \(papal\) bull market