

The Century invites reader submissions

August 15, 2013

The Century invites readers to contribute essays on the topic of “Mentors.” The topic can be approached from any angle, but we are interested primarily in narratives—first-person accounts and stories. A selection of submissions will be published in the print or web magazine. Selected essays will receive a free one-year subscription to the magazine.

Essay length: Under 1,000 words.

Deadline: October 15.

Send contributions to mentors@christiancentury.org