New today from the Century:

- Carol Zaleski on what it's like to be a creature: "We don't know which experiences specify our humanity. But the Abrahamic faiths agree that we are made of dust and ashes, a bit of clay or a mere clot."
- Carol Howard Merritt on bivocational ministry
- John Buchanan's summer reading (subscription required)
- Steve Thorngate on charity, data and story
