

Friday digest

August 30, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Philip Jenkins on shrines shared by multiple faiths: "Shared holy places might puzzle American or European Christians. In the rest of the world, religions have rarely enjoyed such a monopoly." (subscription required)
- Gail Irwin on cardboard churches
- "So here is how it goes," a poem by Yehiel E. Poupko
- A brief review of Daniel Ellsberg