

Thursday digest

September 12, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Denise Frame Harlan remembers Robert Farrar Capon: "The first time I heard Capon's words, I saw visions."
- Paul Gaffney on a feast for those at the edges: "Each Tuesday in San Rafael, we experience what it looks like to stop fighting over scraps and instead offer one another something substantial." (subscription required)
- Russell Powell reviews Larry Rasmussen (subscription required)
- Adam Copeland on Facebook profile "religious views"

In the news:

- Pope Francis tells atheists to 'obey their conscience'