

Friday digest

September 13, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- The editors on Syria: "In the face of huge unanswered questions and with the unpredictable outcome of any act of war, U.S. military action against Syria is unwarranted."
- Sam Wells on a surprise gift for a deceased love one: "I asked Michael's mother what it was like to say goodbye. 'Oh, it wasn't much fun,' she said. Then she told me what she put in the coffin."
- Diane Roth on being religious

In the news:

- Seminary, private college form Desmond Tutu center
- Wales admits women bishops, Church of England lags behind