

Monday digest

September 23, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Bethany Sollereder on extinction and God's goodness: "If God is both the author and lover of creation, why would God develop complex beings through a process that necessitates species extinction?"
- Norman Bendroth on ministry and selling shoes: "One year when I was between interim gigs I got a job at Macy's. My training there wasn't unlike church outreach training." (subscription required)
- David Williams on Nairobi and the NRA
- John Stendahl blogs the lectionary