

Thursday digest

September 26, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- The editors on budget battles and the Obamacare rollout: "Obamacare's hardline opponents aren't worried that the law won't work as planned. They're worried that it will."
- Amy Frykholm on why she's welcoming Obamacare
- John Buchanan on World Communion Sunday, "one of the best ideas Presbyterians ever had. But it doesn't seem to be considered as important as it once was."
- Walter Brueggemann reviews Paul Crowley's volume of Robert McAfee Brown's writings (subscription required)
- John Vest on youth ministry and mental health