

Thursday digest

October 3, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Amy Frykholm reviews Najla Said (subscription required)
- Phil Jenkins and Grant Wacker's annotated list of new titles in global Christianity and American religious history
- Steve Woolley on interring 300 unknown people's remains
- Steve Thorngate on Obamacare and being open to changing your mind

In the news:

- Chinese activist Chen Guangcheng gets U.S. platform to promote human rights
- An antidote to religious strife in Egypt: nationalism
- First Anglican woman bishop in India says critics have been silent