

Wednesday digest

November 13, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Philip Jenkins on the ongoing reformation in Ethiopia: "Since the 1970s, Ethiopia has seen something like what Europe saw around 1520: a movement based largely on growing access to the vernacular Bible." (subscription required)
- Molly Worthen on Billy Graham and the fracture of American evangelicalism
- Steve Thorngate on his church's second-annual Reign of Christ service featuring the music of Bob Dylan
- Thorngate briefly reviews Rokia Traoré