Wednesday digest

November 27, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- David Heim interviews theologian Jennifer McBride: "It is by being in solidarity with sinners that Jesus brings about reconciliation. This is not a picture of Jesus that churches often emphasize."
- Katherine Willis Pershey's pastoral response to the whole Advent vs.
 Christmas thing
- o Arthur Remillard on warrior culture and muscle men in the NFL
- o Jill Peláez Baumgaertner's year-end picks in poetry
- Peter Bannister's year-end picks in classical music

In the news:

- Spelling out your views for end-of-life care is a 'spiritual' act
- o 'Crown jewel' of American printing fetches $14.2 million in record auction