

Tuesday digest

December 3, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- David Roozen on the decline narrative and evangelicals: "Why have evangelical denominations joined the mainline's downward turn? We await the definitive study, but a few culprits seem likely."
- Carol Howard Merritt on corporations and religious freedom
- Diane Roth considers the beginning of Advent
- Daniel Harrell's lectionary column for Sunday, December 15 (subscription required)
- "Girl Insomniac," a poem by Miho Nonaka

In the news:

- Pope Francis meets with Israel's Benjamin Netanyahu
- Archbishop of Canterbury: The cross has become a fashion symbol