

Friday digest

December 20, 2013

Subscribe by RSS feed: magazine, blogs, news. See all feeds.

New today from the Century:

- Amy Frykholm interviews sociologist Vern Bengston: "Religiosity is a driving force more salient than belief. Agreement with specific beliefs is the least likely religious trait to be passed on."
- Debra Dean Murphy on Advent despair
- Carol Howard Merritt on the virtues of slacktivism
- A brief review of Paula Huston

In the news:

- In season of giving, atheist groups' charity rebuffed
- Frank Schaefer defrocked by United Methodist officials