New batch of music reviews

By Steve Thorngate

August 28, 2014

I'm on vacation for the next week, so this is just a quick post to point to something from the print magazine: every so often I write a music column with a couple very short reviews and one slightly longer one. This time around it's a bit on First Aid Kit, Keb' Mo', and Chris Thile plus a bit more on Hurray For the Riff Raff. If you like to read such things, please read these ones!

I'll be back in a week with my patented brand of slightly more frequent blogging.