

Episode 15: Kaji Douša

February 14, 2016

Kaji Douša is senior minister of The Table UCC in La Mesa, California.

In this episode, Matt talks to Kaji being a black woman in a predominantly white congregation and about preaching against guns as a gun owner among gun owners. Kaji also explains how not growing up in the church might have helped her sermons, and she describes the influence of standup comedians on her style.

Use the player below to listen.