Theology

by B. R. Strahan in the September 9, 2020 issue

If you study the leaves each is a little book, and the stems of grass are lines of poetry.

Where is the patience to hear what the wind keeps telling us?

The blackbird in the bush sings a psalm of summer.

Listen.