Easter, 2020

by Marda Messick in the March 24, 2021 issue

First Easter without (he died in the summer) and alone although in her driveway my neighbor offered at arms' length a loaf of new bread and I took the bread in the same way and at my table broke it with gloved hands and processed like a Mary to my friend and gave her portion saying Take and eat this is for you and taking the bread with bare hands O gracious she said I am hungry and praises arose like leaven in our hearts.
