

Episode 28: Historian Beth Allison Barr, author of The Making of Biblical Womanhood

A conversation with Beth Allison Barr about Paul's writings about women, Reformation theology, being a pastor's wife, and more

May 11, 2023

Welcome to Madang!

Madang is the outdoor living room of the world. Here, we invite you to sit and tune into unreserved, remarkable conversations with renowned authors, leaders, public figures, and scholars on religion, culture, and everything in between. Madang has been a dream of mine for many years, and now it is a reality. Thank you for joining me!

This is the 28th episode of Madang, where I converse with Beth Allison Barr about her book The Making of Biblical Womanhood. Barr is the James Vardaman Endowed Professor of History at Baylor University. Her specialties include European women, medieval and early modern England, and church history. She earned her PhD in medieval history from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill and is the bestselling author of The Making of Biblical Womanhood: How the Subjugation of Women Became Gospel Truth. She is also a pastor's wife and mom of two great kids.

Today, she shares about being a pastor's wife, what led her to writing a book on biblical womanhood, Paul's writings about women, Christian household codes, Reformation theology about women, and so much more.

I am grateful to Homebrewed Christianity, Watchfire Media, and JL Consulting for their sponsorship of this episode. Please check out their website for their work, events and to donate. Please reach out to me if you would like to sponsor the next episode of Madang podcast. Or simply support me here: <https://anchor.fm/grace-ji-sun-kim>